

1958

1510

RECORDS OF THE SESSION

SUPPLEMENT No. 1 (A/2911)

3.2

OF THE ORGANIZATION

Introduction page 1

The last sentence of the section under the heading "Technical assistance"

... can be planned and ad-
... basis with assured and steadily expanding resources. Surely the polit-
... importance of the vital programme lies new and...
... real and e-
... achieved.

Introduction

The tenth year principles of the United Nations. These developments give reason for hope that they may be followed

to the Member States on the work of the Organization in world affairs is shown to reflection and judgment in the light will be the manner in which the institutions of the United Nations are used by the Member Governments.

In recent years, the main attention has been concentrated on the ever-changing flow of developments. This year, the General Assembly has provided a basis for a longer view of which we should make use.

of the Organization in world affairs is shown to reflection and judgment in the light

give a measure of absence of a more em on security. It is now to be the role of a world organization has necessarily taken a new dimension

Assembly at its coming tenth session justice is essential to progress in this direction. It is appropriate to note that there are a number of controversies between Governments which continue to be sources of regional patterns in income overcoming the heritage of intolerance of poverty among the great majority of the world's people in a more secure and The regional activities of the United Nations in dif-

for the future. In Europe, for many years, while the

