

- The Convention has succeeded in translating the principle that the resources of the deep sea-bed constitute the common heritage of mankind into fair and workable institutions and arrangements.
- Though far from ideal, we can nevertheless find elements of interna-

Fourth, the negotiations in this Conference could not have been concluded if we had failed to progressively min-

