

Population Division
Department of Economic and Social Affairs
United Nations Secretariat
New York, 15-16 February 2018

CONTRIBUTION
TO THE SIXTEENTH COORDINATION MEETING ON INTERNATIONAL MIGRATION¹

International Organization for Migration (IOM)

¹ The views expressed in the paper do not imply the expression of any opinion on the part of the United Nations Secretariat.

The core guiding principle of the International Organization for Migration (IOM) is that humane and orderly migration benefits migrants and society. This principle, which guides IOM's work across the full breadth of migration issues, is also at the heart of both the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development and the New York Declaration on Refugees and Migrants. IOM's work and its overall mission are therefore intrinsically aligned with the ambitions of the 2030 Agenda and of the multilateral frameworks address

Within the framework of the IOM Equihealth project (Fostering health provision for migrants, the Roma, and other vulnerable groups), the health strand of the Migrant Integration Policy Index (MIPEX) was developed, along with other partners including COST Action IS1103, Adapting European Health Systems to Diversity (ADAPT), and the Migration Policy Group (MPG). The questionnaire measures the equitability of policies relating to four issues: m

Counter-Trafficking Data Collaborative (CTDC)

(b) Initiatives that will be undertaken during 2018 to support the implementation of the Global Compact for safe, orderly and regular migration (GCM)

Throughout 2017, IOM has provided its technical and policy expertise to support the GCM process, as called for in the modalities resolution. This will remain a key priority for the Organization throughout 2018. IOM intends to continue to step-up its whole of organization support in 2018 including engagement with governments, the UN system and other stakeholders in addition to providing

Another initiative to provide policymakers with reliable information and analysis on migration in 2018 is a series