II. ORGANIZATION OF WORK

As a rule, the Special Committee holds two sessions a year and submits its annual report to the General Assembly in September. In 1984,

The two Sub-Committees meet two to three times each week during the first half of the year and submit reports on the items referred to them for consideration, containing appropriate recommendations, to the Special Committee. These reports are considered by the Committee as they become available. The Committee also holds plenary meetings during the first session as required and, in August on a required backs.

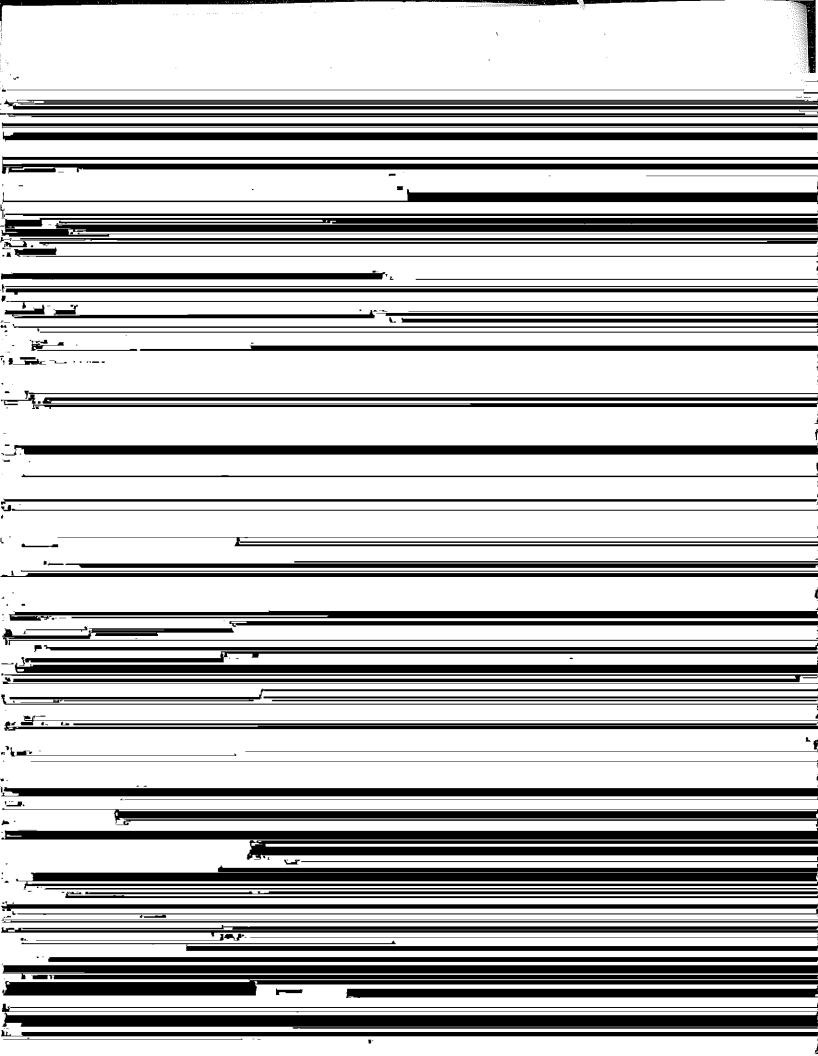

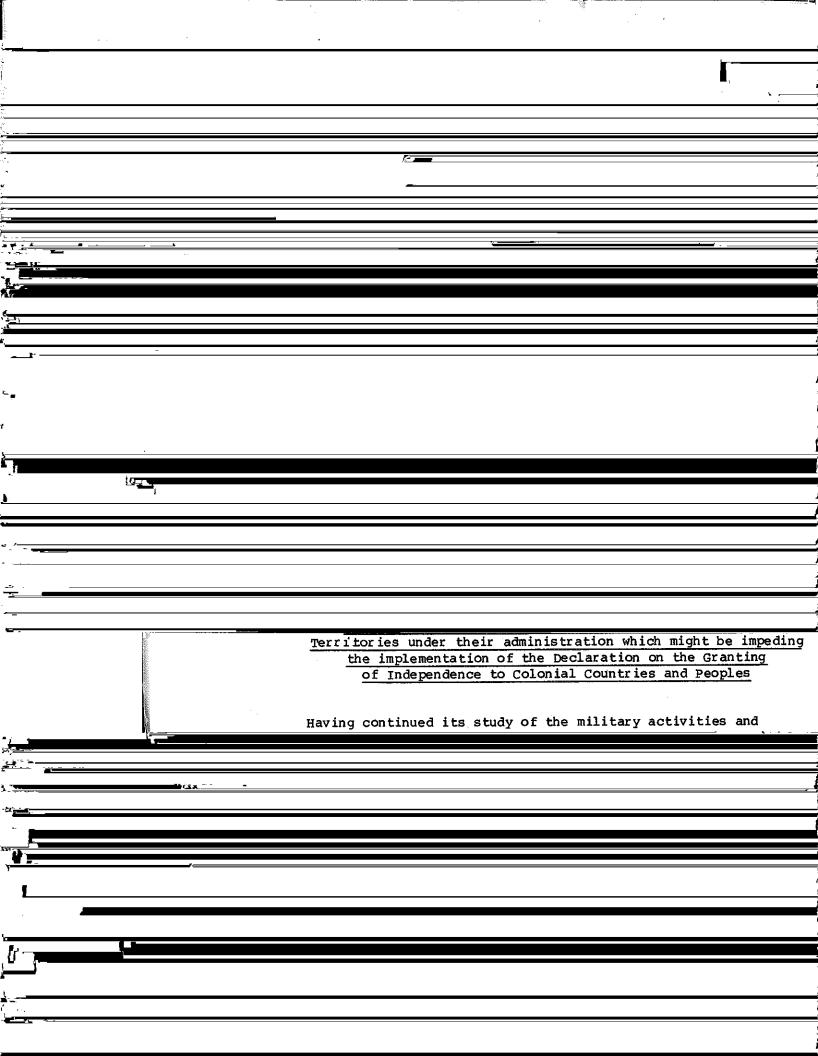

In April 1984, the Secretary-General dispatched, at the invitation of the Australian Government, the administering Power concerned, and under the terms of General Assembly decision 38/420 of 7 December 1983,

The Special Committee urged the administering Powers to take the necessary measures, in co-operation with the territorial Governments, to facilitate a sustained and balanced growth of their fragile economies and to intensify their assistance in the development of all sectors of those economies, with particular emphasis on programmes of diversification, in order to promote the economic and financial viability of those

The Special Committee called upon the administering Powers, in co-operation with the territorial Governments, to safeguard the inalienable rights of the peoples of colonial Territories to the

As regards the questions of Western Sahara and East Timor, after hearing the related statements of petitioners, the Special Committee account the views expressed by the representatives of a number of specialized agencies and other organizations concerned during the related consultations.

The Special Committee expressed concern that, although there had been progress in giving assistance to refugees from Namibia, the assistance extended so far to the colonial peoples, particularly the people of Namibia and their national liberation movement, SWAPO, by the organizations of the United Nations system remained far from adequate in relation to actual needs. The Committee reaffirmed that the recognition
