Mr. Tadesse noted that the Special Committee, through its annual reviews of the situation in the Non-Self-Governing Territories, was fully aware that many of the remaining Territories, particularly those in the Caribbean, had been progressively taking control of their own affairs and that in the majority of them progress towards self-government had reached an advanced stage.

The Chairman emphasized that no matter how constructive and appropriate the suggestions of the Seminar might be, their implementation would require the full cooperation of the administration processes conserved.

生

The Special Committee, while regretting that no administering Power had accepted its invitation to participate in the Seminar, appreciated the understanding and flexibility those Powers had demonstrated during its preparation. That positive attitude augured well for future cooperation, he said.

The Seminar also heard statements by representatives of six Non-Self-Governing Territories - Anguilla, Bermuda, the British Virgin Islands, Montserrat, the Turks and Caicos Islands and the United States Virgin Islands.
