

vertical proliferation and to assess progress, as well as the pace of any such progress, in the field of nuclear disarmament.

4. Reaffirm the crucial importance of achieving the universality of the Treaty to address its non-proliferation challenges effectively, both within the Treaty regime and outside it, and renew with determination the collective commitment of States parties to vigorously pursue the realization of Treaty universality.

5. Reaffirm the importance of strict observance, by individual States parties as well as supply regimes, of conditions for supply stipulated in the decision of 1995 on Principles and Objectives for Nuclear Non-Proliferation and Disarmament, in particular paragraph 12 on acceptance of the Agency's full-scope safeguards and internationally legally binding commitments not to acquire nuclear weapons or other nuclear explosive devices as essential requirements for any supply arrangements for the transfer of source or special fissionable material or equipment or material especially designed or prepared for the processing, use or production of special fissionable material to non-nuclear-weapon States.
