

The Non-Aligned Movement reiterates its concern over the continuing encroachment by the Security Council on the functions and powers of the General Assembly and those of the Economic and Social Council through addressing issues which fall within the competence of the latter organs, and the attempts to enter areas of norm-setting and establishing definitions which fall within the purview of the General Assembly.

The Non-Aligned Movement reaffirms that the reform of the Organization should be carried out in accordance with the principles and procedures established by the Charter of the United Nations and preserve the legal framework of this constitutional instrument. For this purpose, the Special Committee on the Charter of the United Nations and on the Strengthening of the Role of the organization can contribute to the examination of the legal matters in this process. In this committees and the methodology used for the assessment of the humanitarian implications of sanctions as reflected in paragraph 9 of the annex to General Assembly resolution 64/115. We also are interested to hear information on the humanitarian consequences of the introduction and implementation of sanctions, including those which have a bearing on the basic living conditions of the civilian population of the target State, on its socio-economic development and on third States which have suffered or may suffer as a result of their implementation.

The meeting of the Charter Committee this year was successful in terms of finalizing the proposal by the Movement entitled: pacific settlement of disputes and its impact on the maintenance of peace. The Special Committee agreed to undertake an annual thematic debate under the agenda item entitled "Peaceful settlement of disputes" to discuss the means for the settlement of disputes, in accordance with Chapter VI of the Charter of the United Nations.
