Mr. Chairman,

Mr. Chairman,

With respect to Annex I of the Secretary-General's third report on the information

As a contributing country to peacekeeping missions, the Republic of Korea provides a two month intensive training course for its military personnel.

They are chosen through an extremely rigorous process among many able soldiers and are given instruction in the necessary professional ethics standards. We believe such pre-deployment training must have contributed to the fact that no crimes of a serious nature have been committed by Korean national military personnel in UN peacekeeping missions.
