

The Center for International Law and Policy in Africa and the International Bar Association –and hosted by Debevoise & Plimpton LLP – at 919 Third Avenue, New York, NY 10022, will convene an interactive dialogue on Universal Criminal Jurisdiction: A Key Tool in the Fight for Atrocity Crimes in Ukraine and Beyond?, scheduled to take place on Tuesday, October 25th in New York, and online. The discussion, as a side event for continued relevance and re-emergence of the universal jurisdiction principle. Yet, during the first wave of universal jurisdiction prosecutions led by Belgium, France and Spain in the early 1990s, states seem to get into friction with each other especially as regards the invocation of universality in respect of state officials and the question of their immunity
