

Geneva Conventions of 1949 relating to the Protection of Victims of International Armed Conflicts

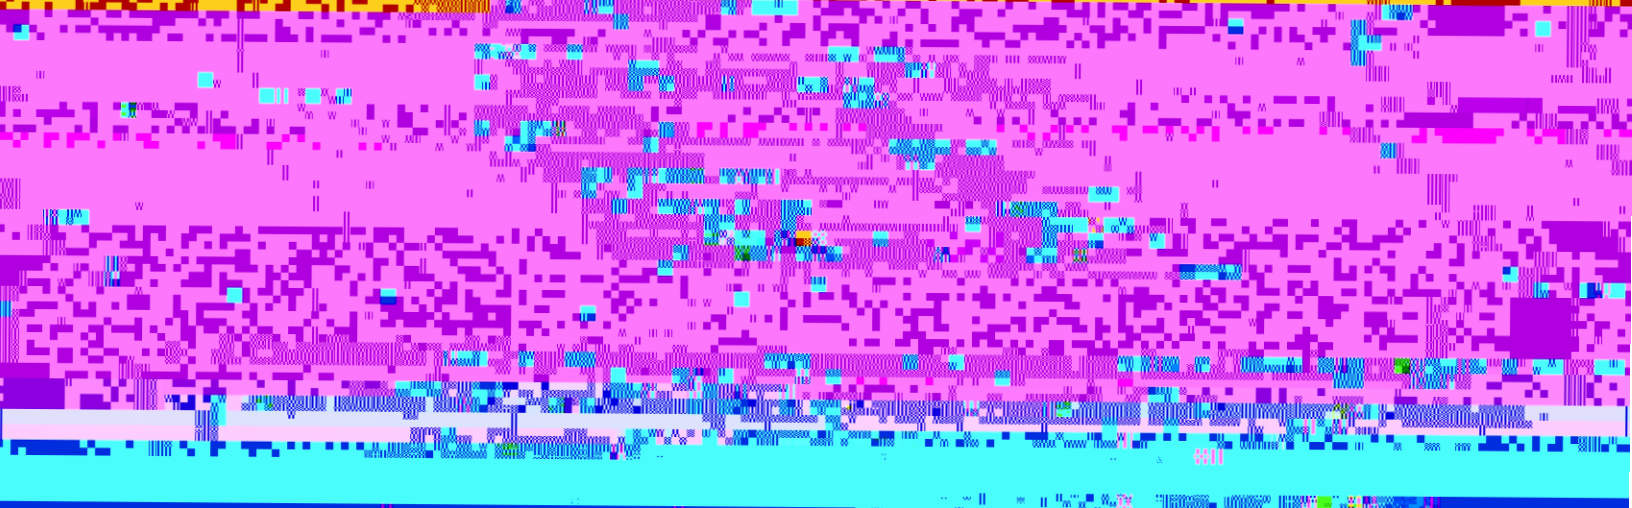

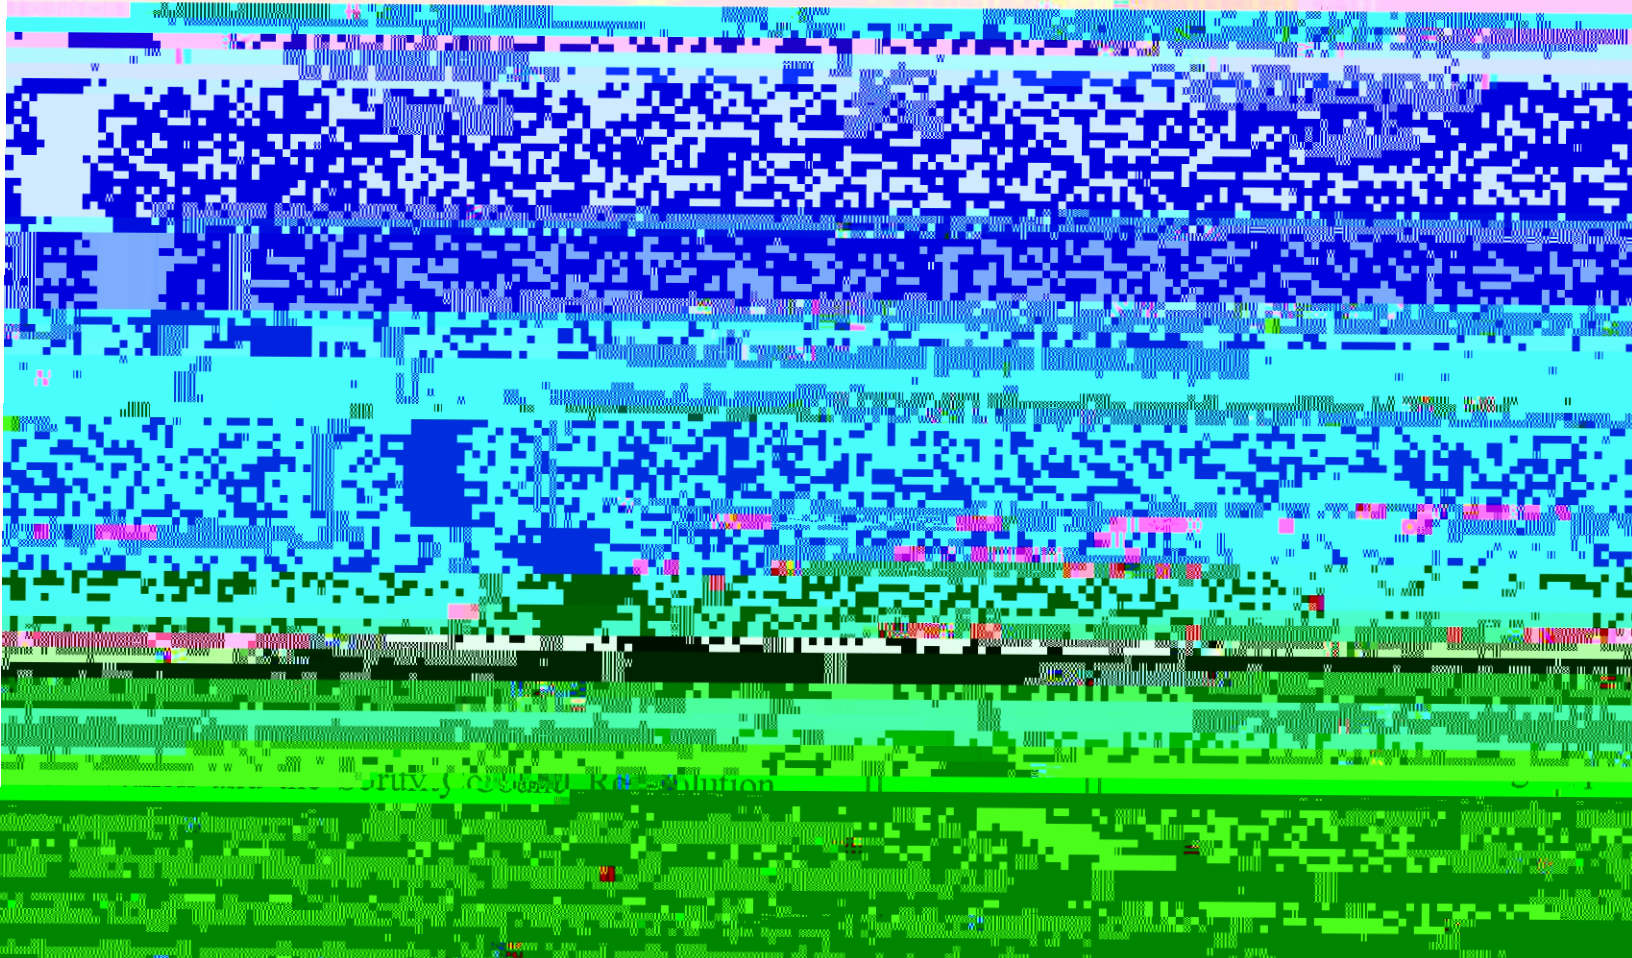

The Geneva Conventions of 1949 are a series of four international treaties that protect the victims of international armed conflicts. They are: 1. The Geneva Convention for the Amelioration of the Condition of the Wounded and Sick of Armed Forces in the Field (1949), 2. The Geneva Convention Relative to the Treatment of Prisoners of War (1949), 3. The Geneva Convention Relative to the Protection of Civilian Victims of Armed Conflicts (1949), and 4. The Geneva Convention Relative to the Re-establishment of the Family Links between Prisoners of War and their Families (1949). These conventions are part of the Geneva Convention system, which also includes the Geneva Convention on the High Seas (1958) and the Geneva Convention on the Continental Shelf (1958).
