b. A decision in these cases is likely to impact the United Nations as a whole and several thousands of staff members, as they challenge the implementation, effective 1 January 2017, of the new Unified Salary Scale for staff members in the Professional and higher categories.

3. In his request, Judge Downing further notes that the Dispute Tribunal “as a whole has thus far received 33 cases from staff members located at different duty stations and working for various entities within the Organization” and that it “appears highly likely that there will be additional applications filed involving the same issues” identified above.

4. Article 10(9) of the Dispute Tribunal’s Statute provides:

Cases before the Dispute Tribunal shall normally be considered by a single judge. However, the President of the United Nations Appeals Tribunal may, within seven calendar days of a written request by the President of the Dispute Tribunal, authorize the referral of a case to a panel of three judges of the Dispute Tribunal, when necessary, by reason of the particular complexity or importance of the case. Cases referred to a panel of three judges shall be decided by a majority vote.

5. Article 2(3) of the Rules of Procedure of the Appeals Tribunal stipulates:

The President of the Appeals Tribunal may, within seven calendar days of a written request by the President of the Dispute Tribunal, authorize the referral of a case to a panel of three judges of the Dispute Tribunal, when necessary, by reason of the particular complexity or importance of the case.

6. The arguments raised by Judge Downing conform to the grounds for a referral as identified in the aforementioned provisions of both the Dispute and Appeals Tribunals.

7. For the foregoing reasons, the Appeals Tribunal refers the cases to a panel of three judges of the Dispute Tribunal, in accordance with Article 2(3) of the Rules of Procedure of the United Nations Appeals Tribunal. In the interest of judicial economy, the Appeals Tribunal includes in this referral any additional cases that may be filed with the UNDT in Geneva subsequent to the issuance of this Order that involve the same issues.
