

Your Excellencies,

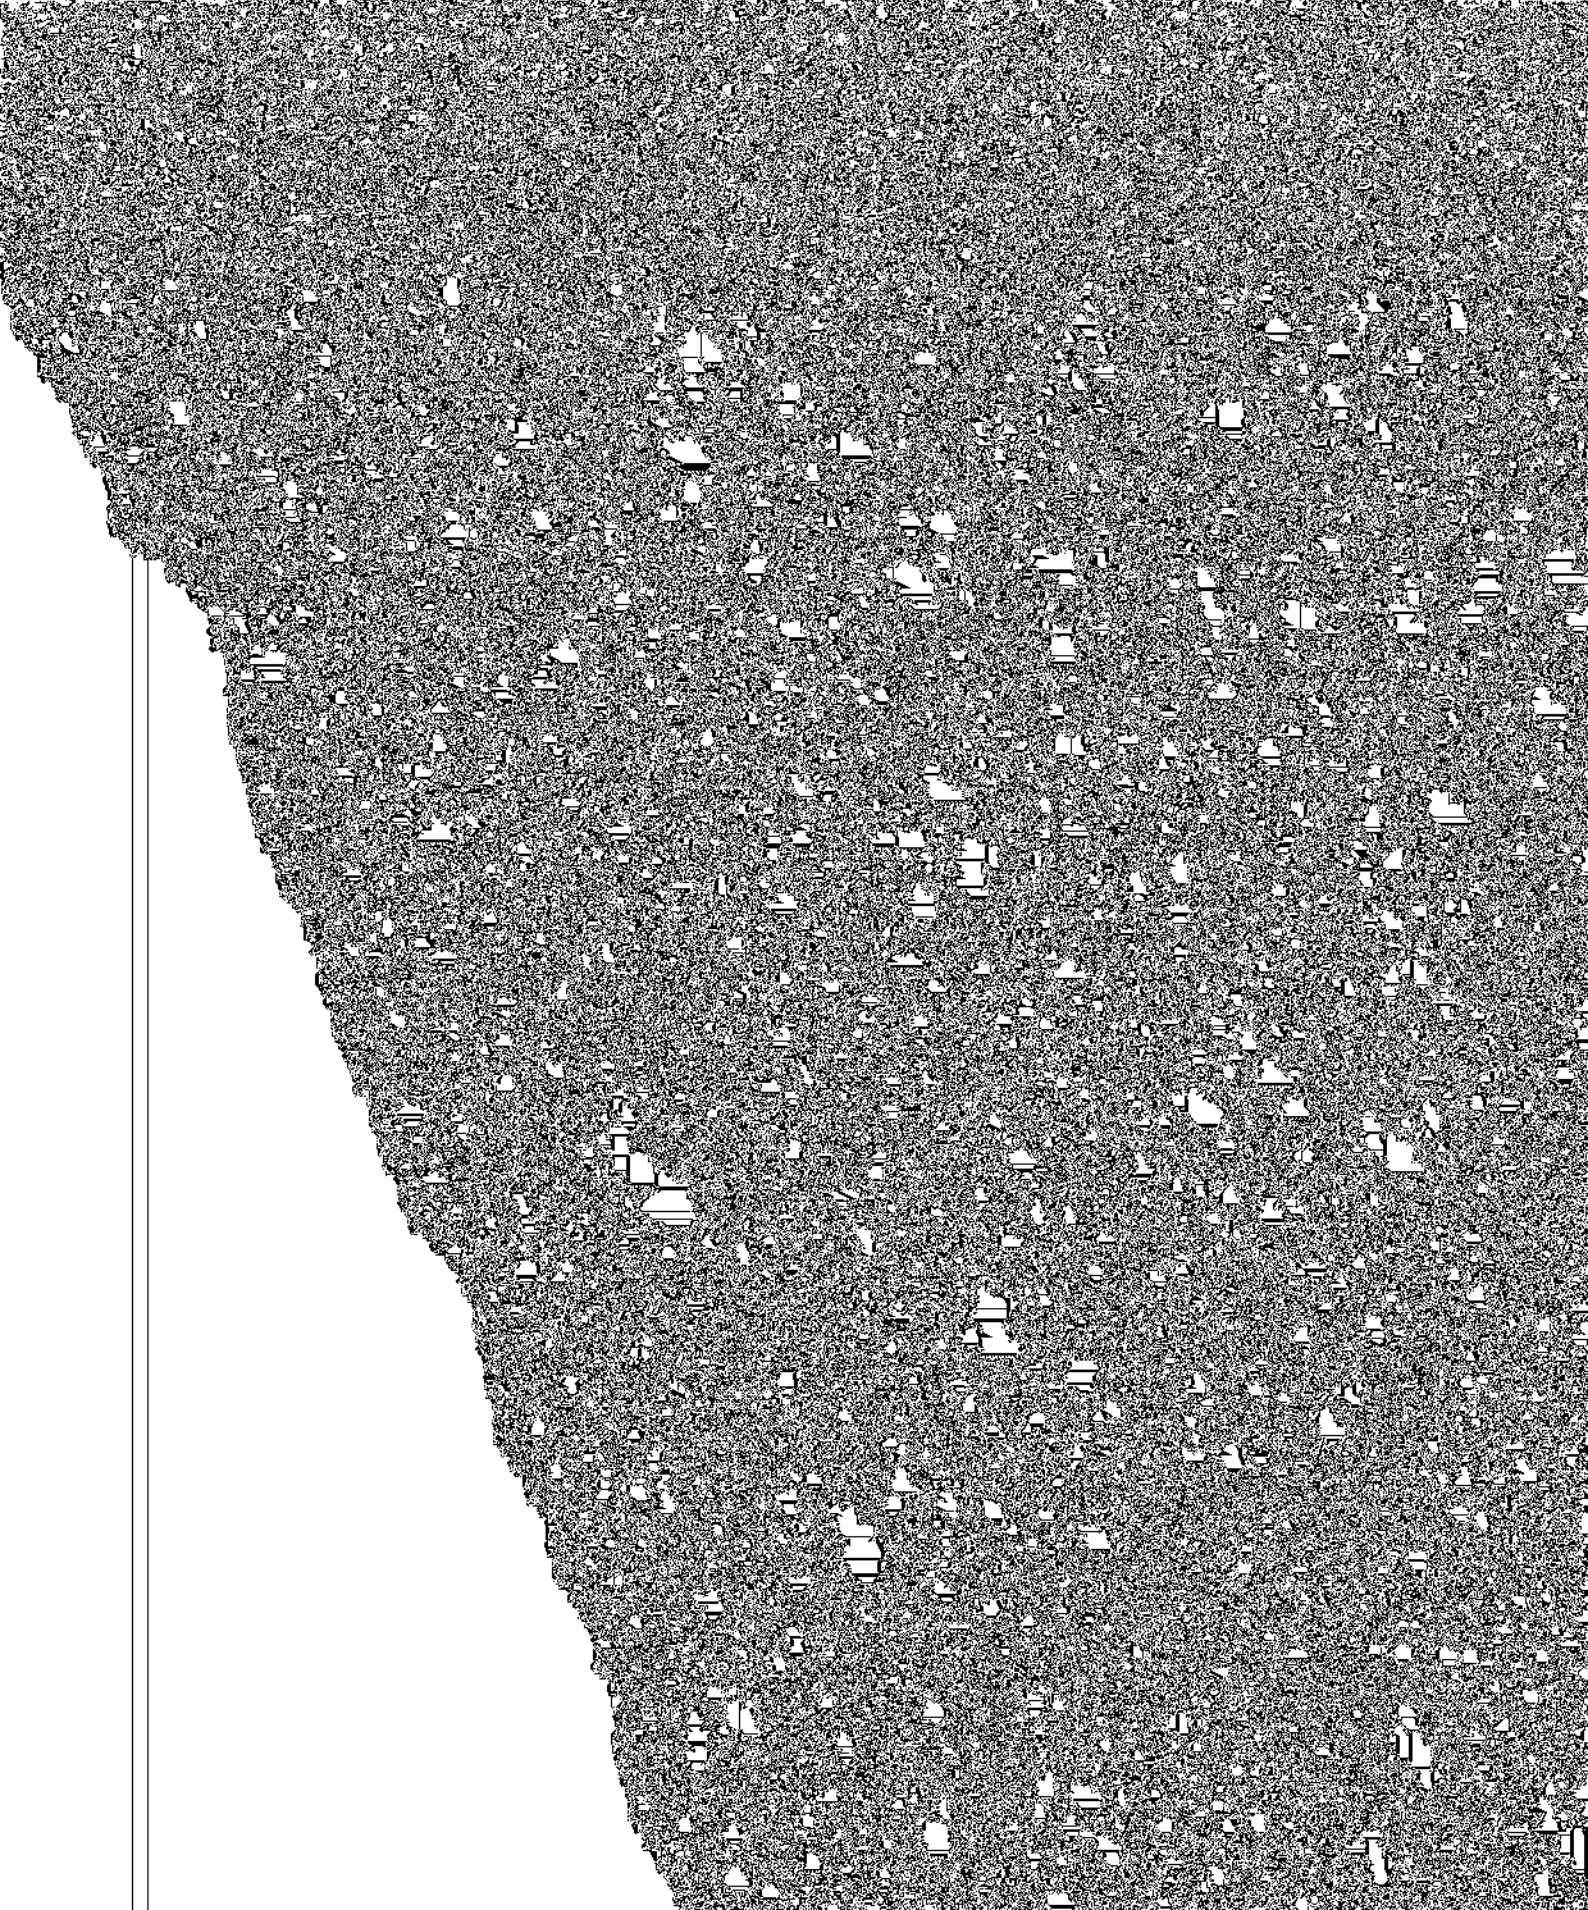

This has been a milestone week. I am honoured to

In particular, I believe that the commitment we have made here to a global social compact with all of the

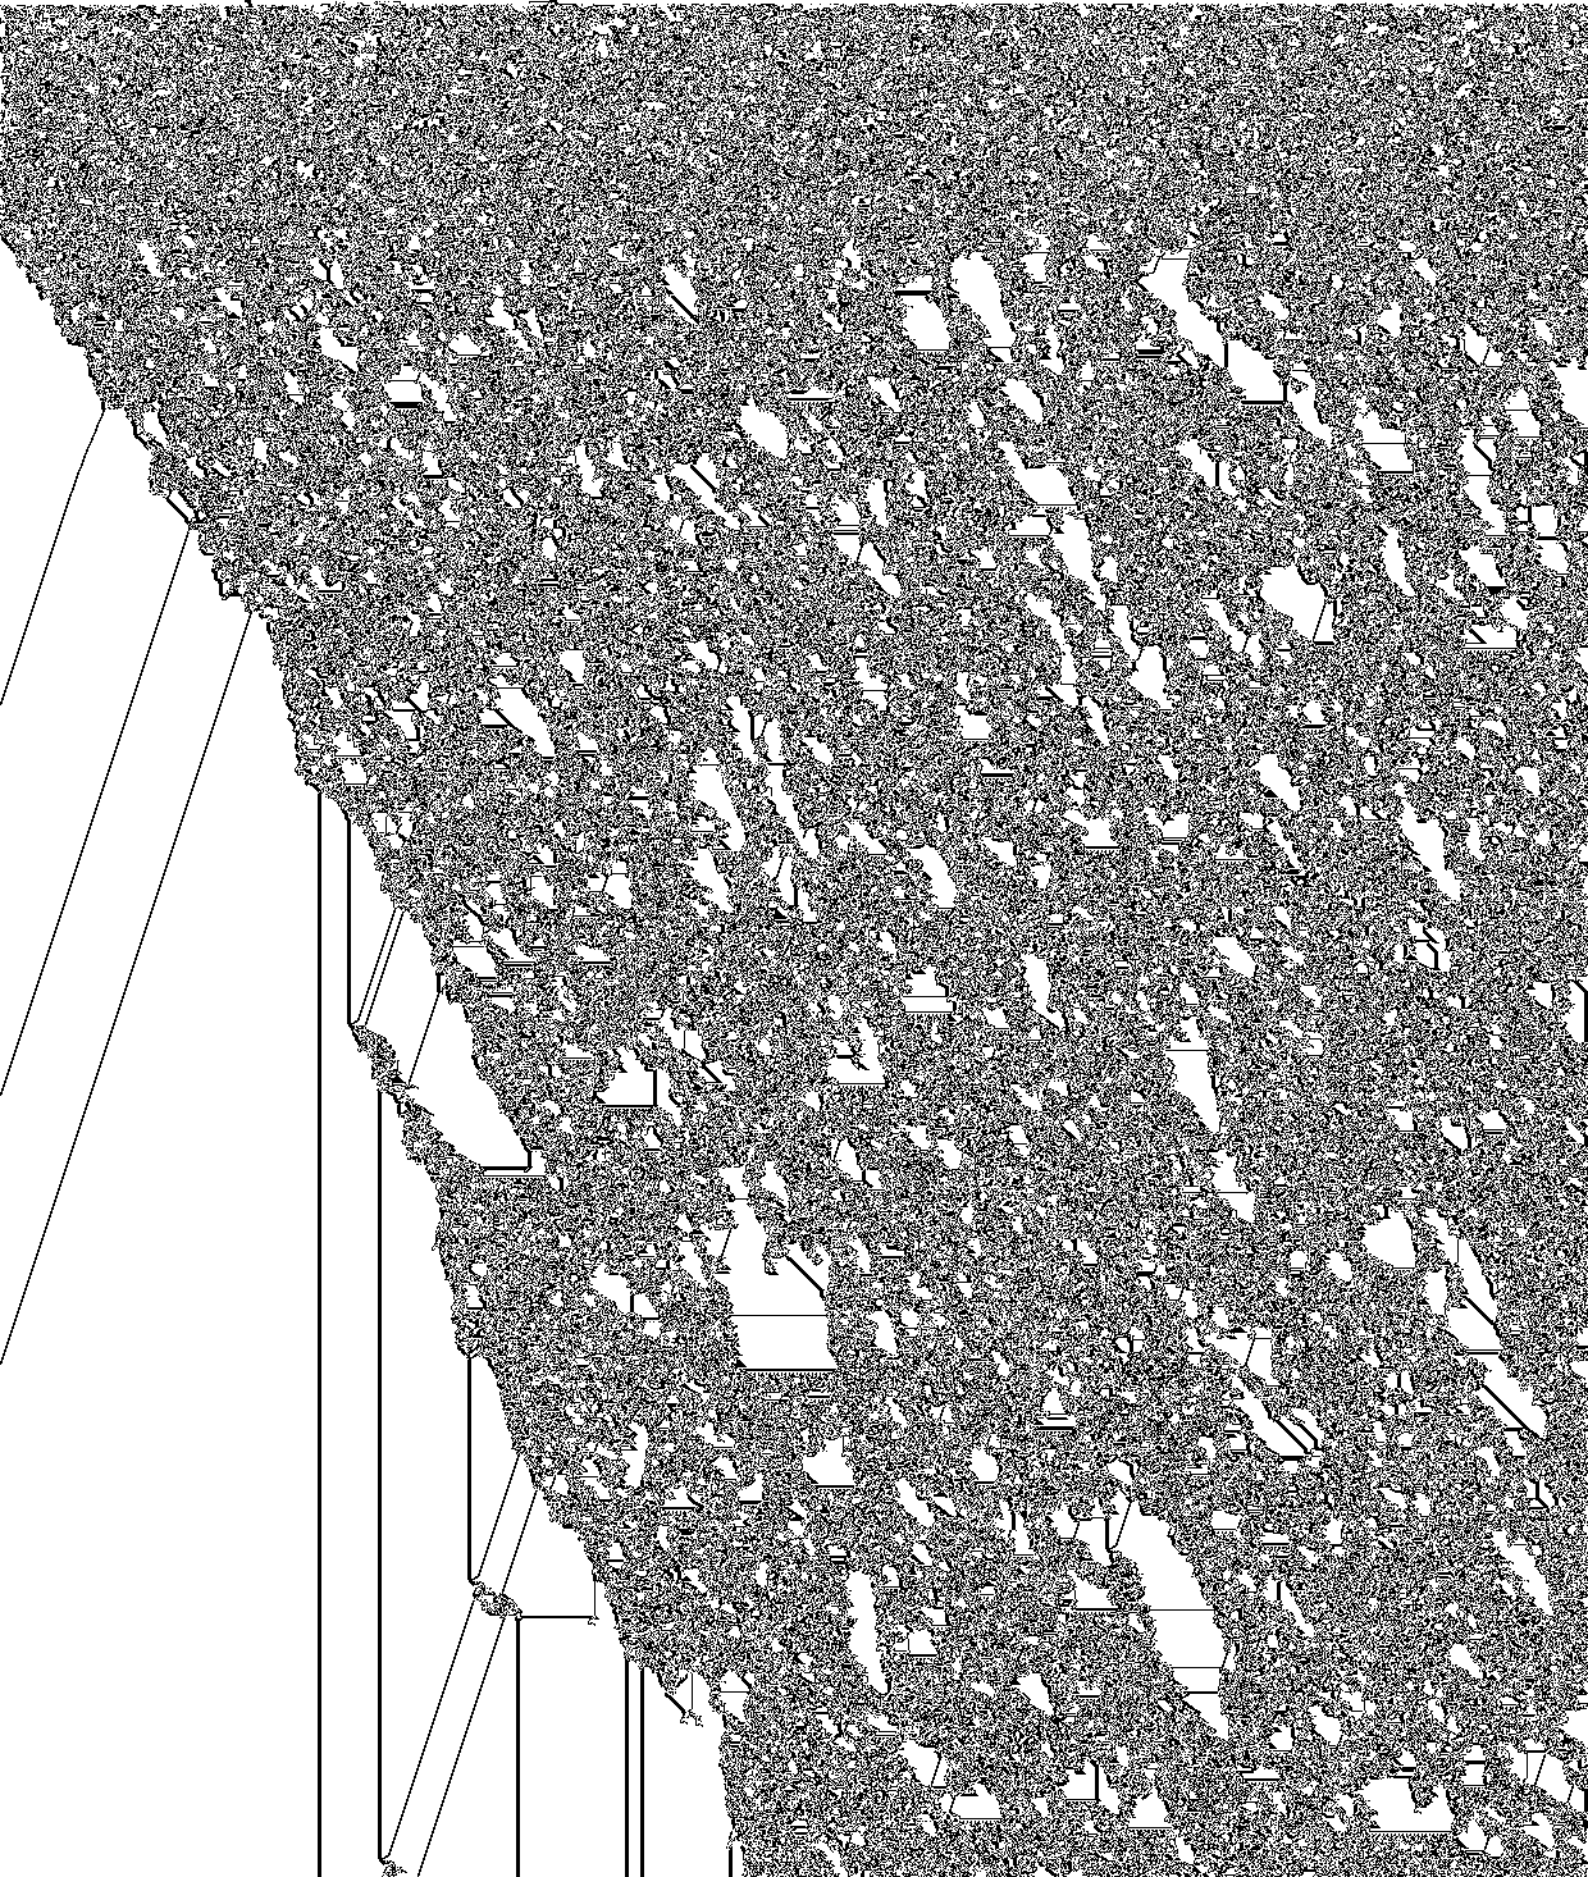

We have recognised the essential role of the private

The principle that everyone has something vital to contribute is reflected in our valued partnerships with

And this week has also been significant in how many commitments have been unveiled by governments and y A major expansion of Texaco's facilities

