

Selamawit Robi

P

Dr Selamawit Robi is a postdoctoral researcher at the Department of Urban Studies and Planning at the University of Sheffield where she also carried out her doctoral research. Her research thus far focuses on ion and industrial parks development, the politics of urban transformations, spatial development planning and sustainability. Selam has fulfilled research, policy and advocacy roles in a range of organizations such as the Centre for International Private Enterprise, the Africa Governance Initiative, UN-HABITAT and the UNECA. Of relevance to the 2024 LDC forum is her most recent

Based in the Global Development Institute at the University of Manchester, the African Oties Research economy of cities affects the potential for structural transformation. As par explores the informal governance and politics of Urban Structural transformation in Addis Ababa.