

symbolic weapons from specialist retailers, as was the case with Anton Ludin Petterson before his school attack in Norway in 2015.

We argue, therefore, that when it comes to self-activators, there are often

