

...involving the work and purpose of this piece of organization to the widest possible audience to make the greatest impact on the lives of people.

Scidanka expresses its appreciation for the important work of DPI in promoting awareness of important, timely international issues of importance to the international community and also for its strategic approach adopted in recent times. Clearly defined communications strategies are in place that focus on targeted audiences and on integrated use of the new information and communications technologies in promotional campaigns and outreach activities. This is well manifested in the quality of the reports, clustered around three thematic areas, as produced by the DPI. We are convinced that the DPI should continue to play this essential role as

...link between the people of the world and the United Nations. The link between the people of the world and the United Nations does not need to be overemphasized.

...that DPI will redouble its efforts to continue to always develop, create and disseminate information and knowledge that are relevant, timely and therefore important that DPI understands the ground realities are different from country to country.

...has evolved significantly over the past years and the need for such operations continue. Today the world has become a global village and the need to present

