This is because the number of possible connections between nodes increases exponentially as the number of nodes increases. As a result, the network becomes more complex and difficult to manage.

As I conclude, I wish to reiterate that the Government of Canada is committed to the protection of their rights. Expert from the DPP's Bureau for National Security have agreed to provide witness or corroborate the information provided by the former "commercial" intelligence agencies. This will be done through a memorandum of understanding.

With respect to the "commercial" intelligence agencies, the Government of Canada has issued a formal instruction to the relevant agencies to ensure that they do not interfere with the proceedings in any way.

Finally, the Canadian government, in particular, has been very clear about the equality of the two parties in this trial.
The Canadian government has made it clear that it is not the Canadian government's role to decide who is guilty and who is not guilty.

: Thank you!
